Growing Down: Poems for an Alzheimer's Patient: Simpson ...

And so I'm growing down to-day. I'm back to marbles and to tops, To flying kites and one-ol'-cat; 'Fan acres!' I now loudly cry; I also take my turn at bat; I've had my fling at growing up And want no old man's fair renown. To be a boy is finer joy, And so I've started growing down. Once more I'm learning games I knew When I was four and five and six, I'm going back along life's track

Growing Down: Poems to an Alzheimer's Patient by Anne Simpson

The poem "Growing Down," one of the longer poems in the collection Every Thing On It, is one of those poems. The poem is told by children describing "old Mr. Brown, the crabbiest man in our whole darn town." They call him "Grow-Up Brown" because he is always telling them to "Grow up, grow up, oh grow up."
